

Camouflage

Cyclosa Spider weaves
Bits of leaves and twigs into her web
As a camouflage,
To trick the Wood Thrush in search of food.
The Wood Thrush pecks at the brown lump,
Expects a meal,
But gets a beakful of decay.